Steel Tieup Shows No Sign Of Breaking

Federal Mediators To Confer ... With Both Sides

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The government Thursday makes its first official move in the four-day-old steel strike that shows no early signs of settlement.

It plans to issue an order freezing certain critical steel supplies now stockpiled in warehouses to insure unhampered defense production, and—

Federal mediators will confer separately with the Big Three of the basic steel industry and the United Steel Workers with the aim of reviving stalemated contract talks.

Holiday Slows Spread

The Independence Day lull for the moment checked the spreading affects of the strike but it is expected to increase sharply the rest of the week.

The strike of 650,000 basic steel workers already has hiked unemployment in allied industries close to 47,000. Of this number 33,000 are railroad employees and 11,000 are in the transportation field.

The government freeze was announced by William Trupner, director of industry mobilization for the Commerce Department. He emphasized that it will apply only to selected finished steel products, and not all sizes and shapes.

United Identifies 2 Crash Victims

GRAND CANYON, Ariz. (INS)—United Air Lines reported Wednesday that two of the three bodies found near the wreckage of its DC-7 airliner in Grand Canyon have been positively identified.

Dr. George L. Kidera, company medical director, and acting Coconino County Coroner Shelby McCauley said those identified are:

Carl Matland, Pittsburgh, Pa.
Capt. James W. Tobias Jr., U. S. Marine Corps, Philadelphia, Pa.

The United Air Lines announced that relatives of the identified victims have been notified.

Wings Displayed

SEOUL (Thursday) (INS)—South Korea's fledgling jet pilots showed off their wings at the opening of a new ROK Air Force headquarters building on Seoul's outskirts.

A formation of 30 jet planes flown by ROK air officers hedged over the structure, then went into a display of aerial acrobatics.

The building was dedicated by South Korean President Syngman Rhee before a distinguished audience which included Gen. Laurence E. Kuter, U.S. Far East Air Force chief.

Cloudy Holiday Cuts Crowds At Pools, Parks

Fourth of July public swimming pool attendance in Lincoln was extremely light, but fairly good crowds made use of the city parks.

Municipal Pool, University Place Pool and Irvingdale Pool reported a combined attendance of about 750 persons. Peak attendance at the three pools in one day this year was about 5,700 persons.

Low water and air temperatures and a cool breeze kept the pools chilly. One pool official said a lifeguard had jokingly reported a swimmer had "cut his foot on the ice."

Park Superintendent James Ager said "nice crowds, but not as good as expected," enjoyed city parks.

Doctor With V.P.

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP)—The assistant White House physician, Lt. Col. Walter Tkach, is accompanying Vice President Nixon on his Far Eastern tour.

Presidential press secretary James C. Hagerty confirmed this in response to a question.

He told newsmen that in the past Nixon always has been accompanied by a doctor from the armed services on his official travels outside the country.

Convention Seeks To Charge Omaha Government Form

OMAHA (AP)—Members of the Omaha Charter Convention said Wednesday they will seek a mayor-council form of government for the city with the mayor elected directly and serving as administrative head of the city government.

Omaha now has a mayor-council government with the mayor the one who heads the voting and each of the others heading a department. Under the new plan, all would continue to be elected but the councilmen would have only legislative functions.

Charter Convention Chairman A. V. Sorensen said, "A majority of the members of the convention voted in favor of an 'Omaha Plan' which anticipates that there will be an elected mayor who will be the administrative head of the city and an elected council whose duties will be legislative."

He said the convention discussed a city manager and mayor-administrator plans.

West Germans OK Compulsory Service

Angry All-Day Debate Staged In Bundestag

BONN, Germany (AP)—The West German Bundestag in a stormy session Wednesday gave a smashing vote of approval to compulsory military service.

The 202 opposition deputies in the 487-member lower house walked out angrily near the close of the all-day debate.

In one of the most bitter floor fights in the six-year history of the Bundestag, tempers flared and deputies shouted as the government and opposition parties battled over the bill.

The three opposition parties fought hard to delay consideration of the measure and then to change many of its 45 articles.

Crucial Vote

The crucial vote came on the first paragraph. This states that every West German male over the age of 18 will be subject to the draft.

Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's supporters snarled under the opposition on this vote. Then they beat back every attempt to change the measure. The voting was by show of hands.

The walkout of the opposition deputies came near the close of the session. They boycotted the votes on the bill's final paragraphs to protest what they called the refusal of the government parties to consider seriously any changes in the legislation.

Wednesday's vote came on the second, or semifinal reading of the bill.

Final Vote Friday

Barring a major political upset, the House is expected to pass the bill Friday on the third and final reading.

The Bundestag (upper house) then must vote on it. But final passage by the popularly elected

Won't Accept

ANKARA, Turkey (AP)—Turkey's Premier insisted again his country will not accept a solution on the Cyprus dispute that would allow the island to join Greece.

Premier Adnan Menderes conferred with Gen. Sir Gerald Templer, chief of Britain's imperial general staff, who came here for the talks.

Re-Enacted

LOS ANGELES (INS)—Descendants of the Mormon battalion of 1847 who first raised the American flag in Los Angeles in that year re-enacted the historic moment.

The Old Glory of 1847 had but 29 stars and a replica of the flag was unfurled at the original Fort Moore site.

Keen Time Klubbers Plan Their Own Activities

By BILL DOBBER
Star Staff Writer

Now entering its 12th year, the Keen Time Klub with its more than 3,000 members is an active example of the dependability and initiative of today's young people.

The organization is sponsored by the City Recreation Department to provide year-around recreational activities for youths from senior high age to 20 years. However, sponsorship is as far as the Department goes as the youths themselves run the Klub.

The governing body of the Klub is composed of a Council made up of representatives from each of the city's five senior high schools. There are 36 members on the Council with a general chairman and a chairman from each of the senior high schools.

Meet Each Month
On the fourth Monday of each month, the Council meets to plan the Klub's activities for the coming month and take up any other problems which may exist. Meetings are held in the City Hall and attended, in addition to Council members, by Mrs. Doris Pierce of the Recreation Department.

"This has been a very successful teenage program," Mrs. Pierce said, "because it has given the youths an opportunity to make and carry out their own plans in addition to providing a good recreational project."

"These teenagers discuss their own problems and always come up with the right answer, not just what they want. In the history of the organization, there has never been a single case of disorder or lawlessness that could be attributed to Keen Time."

'Cooling Off' Dances
Dancing is the main activity of the Klub. What the Klub members themselves have labeled as "cooling off dances" are held during the fall and winter months after football and basketball games.

The summer schedule calls for a dance every Tuesday night from 8:30 to 11:30 p.m. In addition to this, there are some 10 special dances throughout the year, including the senior prom at the end of the school year and the first summer dance each year for graduating junior high students who are prospective members.

In addition to the dances, the Klub holds summer swims every Thursday evening after the city pools have closed to the public. Another of the Klub's activities is the annual Hi Lites program to be presented this year June 23. This consists of a production in Pinewood Bowl of the best senior high school presentations of the past year.

This annual event is planned, staged and produced by the Klub members themselves.

'Dimes' Benefit
A third special event is the annual benefit dance for the March of Dimes.

All work in connection with the dances, including selection of an orchestra, decorations and refreshments, is handled entirely by the teenagers. The dances must be publicized, themes decided upon, arrangements made for senior hosts and hostesses for the evening, times set, programs made for special dances and a host of other detailed work.

Admission to all Klub activity is by membership card plus a charge of from 10 cents on regular dances up to 40 cents for the prom. Memberships are under the jurisdiction of the Council, also.

With cards, undesirable elements can be kept out of the Klub and attendance at the dances regulated.

12 Free Dances
During the year, there are 12 free dances through the courtesy of the Musicians Recording Association.

Once inside the dance pavilion at Antelope Park, the members are not permitted to leave until the evening's activities are concluded and it is time to go home. This is one of two hard and fast rules of the Klub.

The other rule stipulates that any disorderly conduct means loss of the individual's Klub card. The dances are well attended, according to Mrs. Pierce. The smallest attendance last summer was 137 and the largest during the winter was 1,036 after a football game. "When the kids come to Keen Time," said Mrs. Pierce, "they are not some from Lincoln High, others from Southeast, Northeast or Cathedral. They are all just Lincoln teenagers."

Martens Found

CHICAGO (INS) — Claude H. Martens, 63, Davenport, Iowa, who had been missing in Chicago since Sunday, was found in an apparent daze on the northwest side.

Martens, a retired government arsenal worker, had a three-day growth of beard and told police he had been wandering around the city unable to remember in what hotel he was living. He said he had not eaten in three days.

He had been missing since Sunday when he left his wife and daughter in their Sherman Hotel room to get a package of cigarettes.

Kefauver Claims '250 Votes Now' For Nomination

PORTIA, Ark. (AP)—Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.) said Wednesday he has "a little better than 250 votes now" for the Democratic presidential nomination.

He added that Adlai Stevenson, the Democratic nominee in 1952, "hasn't got anything like 500 delegates" lined up.

Stevenson's supporters previously reported a strength of between 400 and 500 delegates.

The nominating convention will have about 1,200 votes.

Kefauver, here to speak at a Fourth of July picnic and political rally, told a news conference that he "would not expect to accept" the vice presidential nomination, if it is offered.

He said his candidacy was making "very good headway" in states planning to put up favorite son candidates on early ballots. He mentioned specifically Ohio, Michigan and Kentucky.

About four thousand persons swarmed into this northeast Arkansas town of 349 to hear Kefauver.

Girl Lost

DENVER (INS)—A girl, about 17 years old, walked into Denver police headquarters and asked for assistance in finding out who she is.

A slender brunet, the unknown girl is approximately five feet tall. She told police she believes her home may be either Chicago or New York. Items in the girl's luggage indicate she may have been a pianist, model or actress in Chicago.

Fairbury Turns Thumbs Down

It was good news to Lincoln property owners to learn that thanks to a substantial increase in the assessed valuation of real estate the increase in the levy of the Lincoln Public School District for 1956 may be held under 4 mills or less than four dollars for each $1,000 of assessed value.

School officials estimated that the District's levy could be held to 3.53.

Lincoln's growth has imposed the necessity of expanding its school system to the point where its money needs are greater than the financial requirements for all the other political subdivisions of government. Lincoln's voters rather forcefully spoke their mood on bonded debt when voting upon proposals calling for more than ten million dollars for a new community hospital and recreation center, a new library and a new city-county building. They snowed all three under.

Down at Fairbury for the second time the voters of the Fairbury School District rejected a school bond issue of over a half a million dollars—an issue of $565,000 to be exact—losing this time by an even greater margin than before.

Nebraska's Highways

Nebraska has been at it nearly 20 years before it had spent 139 million dollars on modern highways. That was including both federal and state funds. Progress was slow in those beginning years of the highway partnership between Uncle Sam and the people of Nebraska. Actually there was a disposition in the state to question dollar matching—with the result that Nebraska's Highway Department always lacked the necessary funds to take advantage of the federal funds available and earmarked to be spent within Nebraska's borders.

The highway bill to which President Eisenhower attached his signature last weekend is the most breath-taking highway program undertaken by the American people. By taking full advantage of federal funds, Gov. Anderson reveals, Nebraska could spend in excess of 139 million dollars in the next three years. That is a whole of a lot of money by any computation in this state. It is more than we spent in the

Another Try

A bill in the form of a joint resolution went into the congressional hopper this week seeking to revive consideration of the Fort Randall-Grand Island power transmission line for Nebraska.

It was an effort to get the question before Congress. The original bill was killed in committee a few weeks ago. It is worth recalling that a similar effort died in the preceding Congress and a subsequent attempt to revive it at the time of supplementary appropriations also failed.

Of Men And Things

Marquis Childs, distinguished, competent Washington observer, whose column appears three times weekly on this page, will be missing for a fortnight for the weeks of July 16, and 23, back on Monday July 30. Mr. Childs is on temporary sick leave for a minor operation. Many of his devoted followers on this page will miss him although fortunately his absence will be brief. Skilled interpreter that he is he will be back in action for the national conventions which come in August.

Upper Salt Creek was on a rampage because of locally heavy rains which saw to it in an incredibly few hours that soil which had been parched and dry was soaked until it could gulp down no more—with no place to go except down the creek and in spots over the creek banks. The Salt Creek watershed undertaking still has a long way to go. And after it is complete in its construction phases we fear that people will discover that on occasions there is a lot left to be desired. In times of drought all of the talk of pinning the raindrops where they fall does not place water, which has been stored, on the hungry acres. It does not even provide domestic water supplies, the people of the Washita Basin, in neighboring Oklahoma, the first watershed undertaken in the United States, discovered. It may or it may not put an end to flooding under any and all conditions. We cling to the latter view and expect to live long enough to see it confirmed by the physical facts of life.

Rep. A. L. Miller of the Fourth Nebraska District gave an adroit reply to spokesmen for the Nebraska Rural Electrification Districts who had urged him to support Hell's Canyon, the Niagara Falls Public Power development and still a third one to offset the criticism by Rep. Mike Kirwan, Ohio Democrat, who charged that Nebraska's delegation never supported public power projects unless they wanted something for this state, which is wholly public power. "It is much too high a price to pay," the good Kimball doctor was reported in the news columns to have said, possibly, rolling his eyes virtuously. Miller really can get angry when sufficiently moved.

The Nebraskan seems to feel that he is being called upon to trade votes by the advocates of public power in these other states, some of them Nebraska's neighbors. And, of course, that is a really horrifying thought. Trading votes on the floor of Congress is unthinkable. Whoever engages in it would pick pennies off blind men's eyes. We are quite sure that trading votes is something my way of a luxury to which Rep. Miller has never treated himself. Through all these years he has never permitted himself so much as entertain a thought of scratching one's back in exchange for one's scratching his (Doc. Miller's) back. Be that as it may, and we will take his word for it unquestioningly even if some Democratic politicians might seek to make it appear otherwise. What for the life of us we can't understand is that Miller or his shadow, Hyde Sweet, of Nebraska City, who had a couple of paragraphs of fancy words for this old man the other day, don't understand that Hell's Canyon not only will produce a lot of electricity through the construction of a high dam by Uncle Sam, but could also contribute a lot of commercial fertilizer which these tired lands to the west of the Missouri river will be able to use in the next 25 years.

Mr. Sweet uses a lot of big words about the Fort Randall-Grand Island line. He may understand them. We don't. But if he understands the words he uses he is doing better along that line than he is in connection with the plan to build a line from Fort Randall to Grand Island. He says why don't we build it ourselves. What does he think we are doing? Who does he think will repay the loan to the REA's or to somebody in Washington, including principal, plus interest? What does he think happens in connection with the development of the entire Nebraska program? What a guy! What a joke when it comes to putting out the full facts about the Nebraska program and the proposed Fort Randall line!

Heavy Subsidies

American colleges and universities have had phenomenal success in appealing to business and industry for funds.

The Council for Financial Aid to Education reports that corporation gifts are now coming in at the rate of $80 to $100 million a year.

Such generosity is not without reason. In this technical age the possession of highly trained men can be the difference between business failure and success and presently America is not educating enough young people to fill the pressing need.

No criticism can be attached to corporate gifts to education so long as the money does not buy return favors. It is the function of American schools to educate for all fields, including the fields of culture and citizenship and it is the duty of school men to keep it so.

President Plugs Power Project

WASHINGTON—It was partly lost during the worry of the President's illness, but the almost last official document he signed was the veto on June 7 of a proposed $3,000,000 payment to the Crow Indians of Montana as compensation for letting Uncle Sam construct the Yellowstone dam and reservoir in Crow territory along the Big Horn river in Montana.

By vetoing the $3,000,000 payment, he blocked an immediate start on the Yellowstone dam, though it was authorized by Congress a full 12 years ago as part of the Upper Missouri Basin project, and though funds were finally appropriated in 1955.

His veto was more important than merely saving $3,000,000 from a tribe of Indians. It had two significant side-effects.

Side-effect No. 1—The veto overrode the administration's much ballyhooed "partnership" power policy of having the government build the dams, then letting private utilities use the damsites.

Real fact is this partnership policy is still sheer theory. To date no partnership agreement has ever been signed. However, the Montana Power Company and the Pacific Power and Light Company, once bitterly opposed to any federal dam at Yellowstone, have now suggested a partnership arrangement; in fact have offered the Interior Department an annual rental of $1,142,000 for the water that someday will flow over the dam, provided they are allowed to build and own the Yellowstone powerhouse.

The two private utilities boast that their plan would save Uncle Sam $31,500,000 during the 50-year life of the dam, but they shrewdly camouflage the reverse side of the coin. The Reclamation Bureau has estimated net power revenues from Yellowstone at $3,000,000 a year. This would flow into the pockets of the utilities' stockholders, while the utilities paid the government only $1,142,000.

Side-effect No. 2—Ex-Sen. Burton K. Wheeler of Montana was hired by the Crow Indians to negotiate their right-of-way payment with the Bureau of Reclamation. What the Crows didn't know was that Wheeler's law firm was simultaneously registered in Washington as lobbyists for the Montana Power Company and the Pacific Power and Light Company.

NOTE — Ex-President Truman, speaking at the dedication of Hungry Horse dam in October, 1952, told his audience: "Take a good, long look at Hungry Horse, because if a Republican administration comes in, it will be the last such project you'll see for a long, long time." The Eisenhower administration has yet to break ground on a single multi-purpose project since taking office nearly four years ago.

Brownell Plays Hard To Get

WASHINGTON—Although the Senate committee on constitutional rights is about to make a concluding report, that committee has not had the benefit of the views of Attorney General Herbert Brownell Jr., who is the officer of the government most directly concerned with the constitution and its interpretation in law enforcement.

Repeatedly for many months the committee chairman, Senator Thomas C. Hennings Jr. of Missouri, has invited Brownell to testify and repeatedly Brownell has found one reason or another to evade the invitation.

This is perhaps the most conspicuous example of a trend more and more evident in the administration to avoid taking any stand on issues that might be considered in any way controversial. It is too often the press agent's approach to government, and the minor tempest over Robert J. Donovan's book purporting to give the "inside story" of the Eisenhower administration from cabinet minutes is symptomatic of the frustration on Capitol Hill.

On November 1, November 15 and December 1 of last year the attorney general was invited to appear before the Constitutional Rights Committee to discuss the security program, civil rights, the guarantees of freedom in the constitution and other issues almost daily in the headlines. The invitation was renewed on February 24, May 11, 29 and 31 of this year.

After the testimony of Harry P. Cain, former Republican senator from the state of Washington and now a member of the subversive activities control board, Hennings and others on the committee felt it was imperative to get Brownell's views on security in government.

Cain had charged that the extension of the security program and its abuses and excesses as it covers the terms of employment for millions of Americans in and out of government present a threat of incidental with the Cain testimony, the Supreme Court handed down a far-reaching decision holding that the present law does not permit the application of security procedures to non-sensitive jobs in government. In other words, the security blanket, under the court's decision, covers only those jobs that involve sensitive information or military operation.

At one stroke the whole security structure was faced with radical alteration. The first response of the Department of Justice was to reinstate 17 persons who had been suspended from non-sensitive jobs for security reasons.

Should the security program be curtailed in accord with the court ruling? In the same TV interview, Brownell said he favored an amendment to the present law which would put "all agencies" of government under the security program, with the agency head free to decide about sensitive and non-sensitive jobs.

Polish Premier's Warning Recalled

NEW YORK (INS) — Stanislaw Mikolajczyk, the last free premier of Poland, wrote in his poignant memoir "The Rape of Poland" these memorable words:

"A raging question in Poland has become, 'How long will it take them to Communize us completely?'"

"To my mind, however, the question is badly framed. I am convinced that human beings cannot be converted to Communism if that conversion is attempted while the country concerned is under Communist rule. Under Communist dictatorship the majority become slaves—but men born in freedom, though they may be coerced, can never be convinced. Communism is an evil which is embraced only by fools and idealists not under the actual heel of such rule."

"The question should be phrased: 'How long can a nation under Communist rule survive the erosion of its soul?'"

That was written for King Syndicate in 1948 after his dramatic escape. Polish workers have now rebelled so seriously that borders have been shut tighter than ever, tanks and jets have wheeled up to shoot them down, and the Communist government of the saddened land cannot afford to let the full story.

As this is written, the chief word out of Warsaw is the inevitable (or is it?) word that leaders of the Poznan revolution for bread and better living standards are being rounded up and shot—a demand for bread and a status above that of an animal being a crime behind the Iron Curtain.

Gen. Bor-Komorowski had 42,000 troops in his underground army, 33,000 of them well trained and 20,000 of them armed with rifles and machine guns parachuted in by the British. He even had a small arms plant working underground. His brave men spilled out of the sewers, the lofts, the surrounding fields and the Nazi slave plants like a surge tide.

Five Nazi divisions under Gen. Stahl and S. S. Obergruppenfuhrer Von Dem Bach, reinforced by the Hermann Goering Division, rushed up from Italy, the Totenkopf Division from Romania and the S. S. Viking Division, withdrawn from the Dublin front, butchered these courageous fighters.

Some 350,000 of the people of Warsaw were forcibly evacuated into Germany, as punishment.

Life And Death Lightly Regarded

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE
International News Service Writer
BOGOTA, Colombia — A North American is a man who has a high regard for the preservation of life... remember, it may be his own.

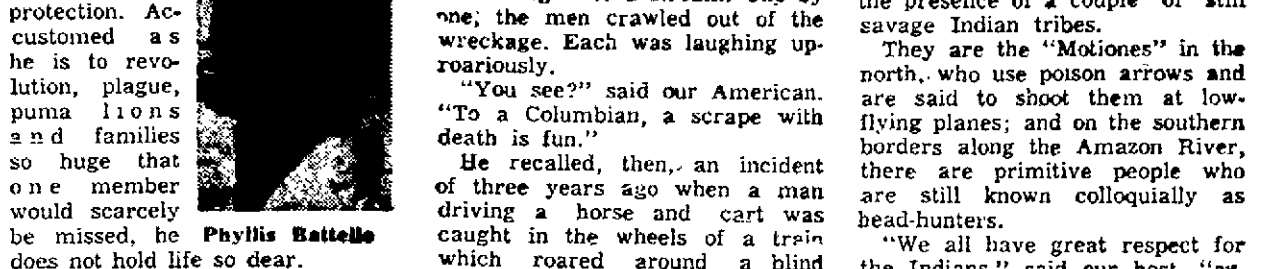

A South American is not so finicky on the subject of self-protection. Accustomed as he is to revolution, plague, puma lions and families so huge that one member would scarcely be missed, he does not hold life so dear.

The Latins have developed a philosophy of acceptance through their centuries of instability and insecurity that we—the brash and unsuppressed and comparatively serene of the United States—cannot quite conceive. A man's presence on earth is easy come-easy go.

"You may find it hard to understand why a vicious murder doesn't hit the front pages here," mused an American who has lived for many years in Bogota. "It's not just the censorship of the papers by a military government. It's also a general lack of interest among the people who read the papers."

"Down here, they have their own philosophy of justice. It's not a democracy, and there is no democratic form of peace and order. It operates more like a Hatfield-McCoy feud than any other form of government; the military men are the Hatfields, and the people are the McCoy's, and that's how it works."

"If a policeman shoots somebody (for whatever big or small reason he deems fit), the somebody's brother shoots the policeman. Then the police force picks up the brother and sends him to prison for life, and it's quits. Revenge has been accomplished, and everybody forgets about it."

We drove down the "Autopista," a new highway near the old city of Bogota, and saw a truck turn over thrice, finally dumping its load of passengers—bloody and screaming—into a stream. One by one, the men crawled out of the wreckage. Each was laughing uproariously.

"You see?" said our American. "To a Colombian, a scrape with death is fun."

He recalled, then, an incident of three years ago when a man driving a horse and cart was caught in the wheels of a train which roared around a blind corner without blasting the required signal. Man and horse were killed, and the man's brother sued the railroad company.

Complainant Killed

"The court decided the only way to settle the suit was to reenact the crime. So the man's brother got into a cart and sure enough, they ran through the business exactly as before. After

People's Cause

Lincoln, Neb.

To the Editor of The Lincoln Star: The Senate, not in their wisdom, but in their foolishness added one billion dollars more than the President asked for defense spending. What can the taxpayers think of a bunch, who don't know the value of a dollar. It's time now that the people of the States institute recall of the senators who put that billion dollars over. They do not represent the people's cause in my judgment.

Red Despotism

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Communism is nothing more or less than despotism.

Russia is more despotic now than under some of the Czars. At the outset under Lenin they attempted to destroy the family. They established marriage by the parties signing post cards. Divorce could be obtained by either of the parties to the marriage giving notice by post card, substituting promiscuity for the solidarity of families.

Today it is reported that it is almost impossible to get a divorce. A complete about face. The rulers under Lenin and Stalin realized that they needed the fairly permanent family.

Under the same regime they declared religion to be "the opiate of the people." They outlawed it, destroyed many churches, turned some into club houses, and persecuted many who tried to follow religious teachings. Today the Greek Orthodox Church and some other religious bodies are permitted, to some extent, to practice their faiths. Probably the pressure of the people brought this about for the reason that religion of some kind is an inherent instinct of all peoples.

The great mass of the Russians have had all the wars they want. If another war comes, caused directly or indirectly by their governing body, the people of Russia will know it. The demands of living (especially so in the countries now dominated) which caused the recent uprising in Poland, is evidence that the Marxian doctrine of the government owning everything and the teachings of Communism are bursting at the seams.

The teachings of Communism are contrary to human nature. We

Band Concerts

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Everyone talks about taking vacations—going to the mountains, fishing, or to some big city—this time of year. But if I were to make my pick, I'd like to visit the small town of Glenwood, Iowa, and hear a good band concert.

In my early childhood 25 years ago, all farm families went to town, bought groceries and had a friendly visit. That was when everyone knew one another. Then we'd sit down on the court house lawn and listen to the band play. There would no doubt be very few folks I'd know anymore, but what a thrill it would be just to be there!

What a happy, peaceful time we children would have. And when the children are contented, how can their parents be otherwise. I know, because I have four of my own now. We didn't have a fourth of what today's boys and girls have, but were so much happier. This may sound old-fashioned to many, but to this day I love music and wouldn't trade it for all the up-to-date music there is.

OFF THE RECORD

Ed Reed

There is Venus, of course, and Mars and Jupiter, and the planets beyond where there still aren't any dirty dishes to wash and nobody has to punch a time clock. But the breathing spell for day-dreams will be short-lived, because who's going to stop at the moon? There will be swamps on Venus that probably smell like the sulphur works on a windless day, and muddy tracks on the carpets on Mars, and backaches on Jupiter from lifting things that are too heavy. And there'll be the fellow who forgot his toothbrush, and the fat woman—but you know the rest.

But maybe this is too gloomy a view. Let a few generations pass, and on a Venus swamp on a clear night a fellow will be able to pole his skiff along lazily, and look out at the sky, and spot a twinkling little dot in the darkness.

Nature being what it is, he will probably rest in his labor and listen to the waves lapping the side of the boat, and think to himself: "There's where I'd be happy. I could make a new world there, just the way I want it. All the men would be handsome and all the women would be beautiful, and there would be no bills to pay."

In his mind's eye, this man would picture that faraway place as a land of adventure in which no one ever got hurt but the bad guys, and as a place of peace and plenty, where neighbors and nations were friendly and mistakes were never made.

And he would look again at the little pinpoint of light in the sky and murmur, "That's Earth. I'll bet things are different there."

Maybe, on second thought, all this talk of space travel isn't such a bad thing. Handled right, it could lead more quickly to the time when we'll all be telling one another that Earth isn't such a bad place, after all.

Girl, 18, Trapped 9 Days In Wreck

She's Alive And Gains Strength

SALT LAKE CITY (U)—An 18-year-old girl who was trapped for nine days in an auto wreck gained strength slowly Wednesday.

Physicians said it was a miracle she survived the long period following the accident which killed her fiancé in a Utah mountain canyon.

Slender, dark-haired Jean Margetts of Sunnyvale, Calif., was listed in fair condition. She was partly conscious, but doctors said it would be unwise to attempt to question her.

The girl and 22-year-old James B. Hixon Jr., of Salt Lake City had been missing since June 24, when they went to Strawberry Reservoir, about 70 miles south-east of here, on a fishing trip.

Aerial and ground searches had been made in the Strawberry area and along routes the couple would have taken in returning here or in driving in other directions away from the area. Tuesday a plane made another check along the mountain highway. It spotted a wrecked car hidden in brush at the bottom of the canyon of U. S. Highway 40, in Parleys Canyon.

a short distance down from the Wasatch Mountain summit.

From the highway, the wreckage was not visible, and thousands of motorists had passed the spot.

Lyle Hyatt, superintendent of the Utah Highway Patrol, led ground parties to the wreck. He said Hixon's body was found about 20 feet from the car but there was no sign of the girl.

Further hunting disclosed the girl, pinned under an oak log on which the car was resting. Hyatt said he assumed the girl was dead as he and two other officers attempted to lift the car from her.

"I lifted up the back of the car," Hyatt said. "When I lifted, it relieved the pressure of the log on her legs. She started crying."

Hyatt said he was stunned. At the girl's bedside in a Salt Lake City hospital are her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Margetts.

"We are surely grateful to those airmen who spotted the wreckage," said Margetts, a hydraulic engineer in San Francisco.

A doctor said Miss Margetts was being fed intravenously but that if her condition continued to improve she could begin taking liquids by mouth shortly. He said that without complications, she has a "good chance of recovering."

She had bruises and a possible skull fracture, but was suffering chiefly from shock, exposure and lack of nourishment.

The dean of the University of Utah College of Medicine, Dr. Phillip B. Price, said "it was probably the cold weather that kept her alive." He said had it been hot her body would have dehydrated much more quickly.

HAIL STRIPS CORNSTALKS NEAR ORD

This hail-stripped corn on the Walter Foth farm near Ord is representative of crops damaged by storms in several areas of the state recently. A 75-mile-an-hour wind along with the hail in the fertile Mira Valley south of Ord stripped the nearly shoulder-high corn to the stalk, left many wheat fields a total loss and badly damaged the second cutting of alfalfa. Other storms hit all of Enterprise Township and part of Vinson Township, damaging some of the finest wheat fields in Valley County just a few days before harvest was to start. Lloyd Geweke, whose corn and wheat caught the full brunt of the storm, said much of the late corn may recover. (Photo Special to The Star).

Fund-Matching Alarms Miller

WASHINGTON (U)—Matching fund programs "have put the federal government in business with state and local subdivisions at an alarming rate," Rep. A. L. Miller said Wednesday. "Functions traditionally reserved to the people and to the governing bodies close to home are rapidly being usurped by Washington under the guise of federal-local participation," he said. "Many of the programs are administered by the local officials, but the rules for playing the game come from bureaucrats on the Potomac, and there is no such thing as local control," he added.

Dazed Iowa Man Found In Chicago

CHICAGO (U)—A Davenport, Iowa, man who disappeared Sunday while vacationing in Chicago Wednesday was found wandering aimlessly on the west side of the city. Police said Claus H. Martens, 68, a retired arsenal worker, appeared dazed and was unable to explain coherently where he had been since leaving a room in the Sherman Hotel Sunday to buy cigarettes. He was reunited with his wife, Aileen, and daughter, Penny, 14. Mrs. Martens said she planned to obtain medical attention for her husband as soon as they get back to Davenport.

STANTON DELAPLANE POSTCARD

There are three lofty conferences going on at Aspen, Aspen, 7900 panning feet high in the Colorado Rockies. Ski resort in the winter, haven of intellectual pursuits in the summer.

There is a great concert of great musicians. And a school for student musicians who may be great.

There is a design conference with designing delegates from all over the world.

There is the Aspen Institute for Humanistic Studies. A school for executives to find out why they are excelling and get smart about it.

themselves criticize the techniques afterward.

The silver king of Aspen today is Mr. Walter Paepcke, chairman of Container Corporation of America. Thus paper boxes finance the town that was once built up by Macy's (Jerome Wheeler was president of Macy's when the silver bug hit him).

Paepcke dipped into his personal money to set up the corporations financing the skiing, the music, the designers who meet here and the executives. The financing is complicated. At least I couldn't understand it. Corporation on top of corporation.

There are old-timers living in the town. But the best of the rundown mansions of the silver kings have been taken over and redone. Paepcke himself lives in a refurbished mansion of the Eighties.

Real estate has a high value. Enough to make the original residents wonder why they used to sit on the flooded silver mines and mourn for the silver days.

"I couldn't have Paepcke's house for taxes," said the oldtimer. "Or for that matter ANY of the old houses. Trouble was, in those days wasn't any of us had even the taxes."

AWOL Airman Commits Suicide

DOVER, Ohio (AP)—"They'll never take me back alive," Alex S. Scott, 17, told his parents when he showed up AWOL from Air Force recruit training in Texas.

He had enlisted May 24, and was reported AWOL from Lackland Air Force Base, San Antonio, June 17.

He arrived at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Scott, and they tried to persuade him to return.

He shot himself in the chest with a revolver, staggered from an upstairs bedroom, fell down a flight of stairs, and died.

Kills First Bull

LISBON, Portugal (AP)—Patricia Hayes, 24, a pretty blonde bull fighter from San Angelo, Tex., killed her first bull in a Lisbon ring and was loudly applauded. A few minutes later her second bull knocked her down, and she fainted.

She is the daughter of John Hamilton Hayes, a retired Texas oilman.

Man Is Nabbed; Accused Of Beating Couple, Abducting Daughter

SHAWNEE, Okla., (U.P.)—Floyd Red Moutaw, accused in the hacking of a Tecumseh, Okla., couple and the abduction of their grown daughter, was flushed from a plum thicket Wednesday and jailed.

Pottawatomie County Sheriff Jim Harrington said Moutaw, 30, Jarjo, Okla., surrendered without incident near Brooksville, a small community about two miles southwest of here.

Mrs. Katherine Hudgins, 27, clad only in a nightgown, was found with him, Harrington said, and she was suffering from shock.

At Shawnee City Hospital, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Duggan were described as in critical condition with head injuries suffered when an intruder bludgeoned them, then dragged their daughter into his car.

Harrington said his search party, after an all-night trek, found Moutaw's car hidden in the plum thicket.

"I walked up to the car with my shotgun pointed to the ground and shouted to Red to come out with his hands up," Harrington said.

"He got out of the car and didn't give us any trouble. But we found a loaded .32 caliber automatic on the floor board of the car."

"The girl was clad only in her nightgown and had been roughed up a bit and was suffering from shock because Red threatened to kill her several times during the long ordeal."

The sheriff said Moutaw made no statement but to say he was "drunk when it happened."

A lug wrench found in the car was described by Mrs. Hudgins as the instrument used to beat her parents, Harrington said.

Moutaw has been charged with three counts of felonious assault but Harrington said that County Atty. Lloyd Henry told him he planned to file a stronger charge later.

The Duggans were found in

Strange Virus May Cause Some Polio

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Public Health Service said a third of the cases diagnosed as infantile paralysis in last year's great outbreak may have been caused by a strange virus against which "the Salk vaccine probably has no effect."

Dr. Theodore J. Bauer, the service's top communicable diseases expert, urged the Senate Appropriations Committee to approve a supplemental $480,000 appropriation for further research. He said it is "a major problem" which could not have been foreseen earlier.

"Recently analyses of reports and laboratory tests have disclosed," Bauer said, "that a great many of the nearly 30,000 cases reported in 1955 by practicing physicians and state health departments as poliomyelitis could not be identified in the laboratories as poliomyelitis."

"Polio virus could be recovered in the laboratory in only one-half of the total reported paralytic cases examined, and in only one-sixth of the non-paralytic cases. In all reported poliomyelitis cases (paralytic and non-paralytic) about one-third could not be confirmed by laboratory tests."

Bauer said "many other types of viruses" were found by the laboratory research, "most of which are not properly identified or evaluated as to their effects upon humans."

Twelve pages of wholesome colored pictures, feature stories with plenty of pictures and the big entertainment section are a few reasons why nearly every one reads the "Sunday Journal and Star."

New Helping Teacher

Marlin Languis, 24, has assumed his duties as county helping teacher with the Lancaster County Superintendent's office. Recently appointed to the vacancy, Languis will aid rural teachers in teaching and administrative problems. He was graduated last June "with distinction" from University of Nebraska Teachers College and has five years' teaching experience in rural schools. A native of Panama, Languis is married and lives at 1849 C. (Star Photo.)

Branch Office?

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—Walter Rivers figured it was only a matter of time until a large, diseased magnolia tree outside his home would fall on the house. So he hired a firm with a crane to take it out. The crane slipped and the multiton tree crashed through the roof of Rivers' house.

An August Bride-Elect

MISS PATRICIA ANN HERZOG

The engagement and approaching marriage of Miss Patricia Ann Herzog, to Duane L. Olson, son of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Olson, has been announced by the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Herzog.

The wedding will take place on Saturday, Aug. 25, at the Westminster Presbyterian Church.

Miss Herzog is a graduate of the University of Nebraska where she is a member of Towne Club of which she served as president. Since her graduation she has been a member of the Elkhorn public schools faculty.

Mr. Olson is a former student at the University of Nebraska.

Had Morning Wedding

MR. AND MRS. RICHARD MOHRBACHER

With yellow and white gladioli forming the decor for the altar and chancel, the marriage of Miss Barbara Berggren, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Berggren, Aurora, to Richard Mohrbacher, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Mohrbacher, Belle Plaine, Minn., took place on Saturday morning, June 23, at St. Mary's Cathedral. The Rev. John Flynn solemnized the 11:30 o'clock ceremony.

Wearing identically styled taffeta frocks the attendants were Mrs. Lloyd Eaton of Phillips, who was her sister's matron of honor and who appeared in the aqua tone, and Miss Ann Gerika, the bridesmaid, who wore the yellow shade. Each carried a colonial bouquet of yellow daisies. David Eaton carried the rings.

William Blau of Belle Plaine served Mr. Mohrbacher as best man, and Edward Townsend, also of Belle Plaine, seated the guests.

White embroidered tulle over taffeta was chosen by the bride for her wedding. The low, portrait neckline of the brief-sleeved bodice was contoured with applique of embroidered tulle, and the exceedingly wide skirt was waltz length. A small hat, dotted with seed pearls held to the head her double-tiered veil of illusion, and she carried white orchids on a white prayer-book.

Mr. Mohrbacher and his bride are spending a honeymoon in Grand Teton National Park, and will make their home in Philadelphia.

Mrs. Mohrbacher is a graduate of the University of Nebraska where she has been on the research staff of the department of bacteriology. Mr. Mohrbacher received his Ph.D. from the University of Nebraska in February.

There's Always News

YOU MIGHT think there would be nothing interesting to talk about the morning after a holiday—but we have news for you—there is. For this morning we can tell you that Mrs. E. H. Polley leaves today for New London, N.H. where she will join a stock company at "The Barn". Mrs.

Polley's first role will be the lead in "The Solid Gold Cadillac," and if you know the play it will occur to you that Mrs. Polley will be perfect for the role which is rather a difficult one since she never is off the stage for a moment. Accompanying Mrs. Polley to

New London will be Mr. and Mrs. Norman Leger.

LEARNED of some guests who arrived on Tuesday to spend a week in Lincoln—They are Dr. and Mrs. Theodore Marmo and their daughters, Suzanne and Marianne who, accompanied by Dr. Marmo's sister, Miss Mary Marmo, all of Mossaic, Pa., are the house guests of Dr. Marmo's and Miss Marmo's brother and sister-in-law, Prof. and Mrs. E. J. Marmo.

When the visitors return to their home in Pennsylvania they will be accompanied by Prof. and Mrs. Marmo and their family.

SPENDING the current week at Mackinac Island, Mich., are Miss Margaret Collins and Miss Madeline Girard who are attending the national convention of Alpha Phi sorority of which they are alumnae. Also attending the meeting are Miss Janet Lovseth of St. Peter, Minn., and Miss Nancy Tucker of Omaha.

JUST in case you were planning to attend the reception for which Mr. and Mrs. Rola Van Kirk are to be host and hostess when they honor Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Trester of Washington, D. C., we'd better set you straight on the date. Originally Mr. and Mrs. Van Kirk had planned to have their party on Saturday evening, but the date conflicted with the wedding of Miss Nancy Hawkins and Timothy Mason which takes place in Omaha—So, the Van Kirks sent out their invitations for Friday evening, July 6. We doubt if anyone but us were confused.

UNDERSTAND that Miss Joan Clements, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Clements, and Miss Nancy Lesher, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Leland Lesher, left earlier this week for Estes Park, Colo., where they will be summer caretakers.

And on Monday evening Lt. and Mrs. Allen Dee were host and hostess at a buffet supper at their home when their guest list included Lt. and Mrs. Roger McKenzie, Lt. and Mrs. Dave Edwards, Lt. and Mrs. Morton Orzen, Lt. Donald Stiles, Miss Martha Hunter, and Lt. and Mrs. Tom Whalen.

We mentioned the Roger McKenzies in the above paragraph—and that reminded us that Lt. McKenzie's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde W. McKenzie of Bowling Green, O., are spending two weeks as the house guests of their son and daughter-in-law, and the three young McKenzies, Gayle, Mark and Dan.

Before we close the books on Eastborough we want to tell you of a guest who arrived on Wednesday—He is Edwin Barrows of Denver, Colo., and he will spend the remainder of the week as the house guest of Lt. and Mrs. Allan Dee.

THE STAR IN SUBURBIA

The Fourth of July came with a "bang" and has gone on its way—it was a holiday for most of the Eastborough residents, and they seemed content to spend it quietly at home. But just because the neighborhood seemed to be placid on Wednesday is no sign that there hasn't been plenty of activity the past week—there has—We found more than a good supply of picnics, barbecues, vacationists, guests—and for extra good measure we have news of a baby shower.

But just because the word "vacation" seems to be big and beautiful to us at the moment, we'll begin the day's news with those fortunate folk who have gone or are going—or have been—on a holiday.

We learned that Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Brayfield and their sons, Jeffrey and Stephen, are leaving on Monday for Springfield, Mo., where they will spend a week as the guests of Mr. Brayfield's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Brayfield.

Then we learned that Mr. and Mrs. James Farkes and their sons, Jeff and Jimmy, will be leaving early next week for Hoople, N.D. where they will spend a week as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Parkins.

Back home again are Mr. and Mrs. Loren G. Nelson who took time out for a little visiting here and there. Mrs. Nelson started the ball rolling by going to Davenport where she was the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Friedline for a week—On last Friday she was joined there by Mr. Friedline and the two went to Holdrege for a week-end visit with Mrs. Nelson's brothers-in-law and sisters, Mr. and Mrs. Don Allington, Mr. and Mrs.

Laurel Borden, and Mr. and Mrs. Burton Karlson and their daughters.

Hear that Mrs. Earl Mitchell, her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Rinne and their daughter, Cindy, are leaving today for a visit with Mrs. Mitchell's sister, Mrs. Phil Debus in Proctor, Colo. The travelers also plan to spend some time with other relatives in Colorado.

It goes without saying that all of Eastborough is not vacationing at the same time—and many of those who still are at home are entertaining house guests—We have in mind Mr. and Mrs. Myrlin Reibolt who have had as their house guests Mr. and Mrs. Royal Workman and their son, Jimmy, of Kansas City, Mo.—on a holiday.

We also learned that young Miss Julie Josephson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Josephson of Shenandoah, Ia., is spending the week as the house guest of Kay Belker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Loren Belker.

And we are sure that it will be a happy reunion when Mrs. Fanny Tracy arrives from Arlington, Va., next week to spend a brief time as the guest of her grand-children, Mr. and Mrs. Loren Belker and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Tracy, and their families.

Eastborough is not without its parties, either—One of the affairs was the surprise party for Mrs. Clarence Umphreys when Mrs. Robert Strong and Mrs. Carroll Brayfield were hostesses at the home of Mrs. Strong. The guest list included Mrs. Arlo Skinner, Mrs. Tom Healey, Mrs. Galen Fritchie, Mrs. Walter Hudkins, and Mrs. Hudkins' mother, Mrs. Dorothy Gregg, Los Angeles, Calif.; Mrs. John Faltermier, Mrs. Gene Thompson, Mrs.

Afternoon Ceremony

MRS. VIRGIL BRACKHAN

The marriage of Miss Betty Hogue, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hogue, Dawson, to Virgil Brackhan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Brackhan, Falls City, took place on Sunday afternoon, June 24, at the Evangelical United Brethren Church in Dawson.

Miss Mary Williams of Verdon was the maid of honor, and the bridesmaids were Miss Janet Deckinger, Stella, and Miss Bonnie Rutz.

Franklin Bott of Scott Air Force Base, Ill., served Mr. Brackhan as best man, and seating the guests were Edward Hogue and Ronald Hulse.

For her wedding the bride chose a gown of embroidered tulle over satin. The long-sleeved, snugly fitted bodice was contoured at the high throat with a Peter Pan collar, and over the bouffant skirt of clear tulle was a detachable overskirt of embroidered tulle which extended to the hem. Her fingertip veil of illusion was held to the head with a crown of rhinestones and sequins, and she carried white orchids on a white Bible.

Following the reception, held in the church parlors, Mr. Brackhan and his bride left for a honeymoon trip after which they will reside in Lincoln.

Mrs. Brackhan, who attended Peru State Teachers College, now is a student at the University of Nebraska where she is a member of Delta Omicron, music sorority.

Betrothal Announced

MISS FLORENCE ANN HOBELMAN

Mr. and Mrs. Fred H. Hobelman of Hardy announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Florence Ann, of Lincoln, to Joseph F. Calder, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Mr. Calder is a senior at the University of Nebraska.

Coreopsis Club Plans Luncheon

The members of the Coreopsis Club will meet for a 12 o'clock luncheon on Friday, July 6, at the All American Hall, 745 D St.

Calder, also of Hardy. A late summer wedding is planned.

Late Summer Wedding

MISS LILA MAE KEIM

Announcement is made this morning by Mrs. Laura Keim of Hebron of the engagement and approaching marriage of her daughter, Lila Mae, to William Robert Egger, son of Mrs. Agnes Egger of Lincoln. The wedding is planned for the late summer.

—with the coming of the Fourth of July came also the opportunity to purchase the only item that infallibly banishes crows and blackbirds — those fiends that nest in the trees and begin their shrill noises at dawn, leaving little sleep for anyone within earshot. Roman candles have proved their worth time and again against these raucous pests. Simply aim the candles up into the trees where the birds are perching.

—if you have costume jewelry that is losing its shine, or is getting that green look, try using equal parts of vinegar and water to restore its luster. A friend informed me that she has been doing this for years and that it never fails.

—a very irate five-year-old miss interrupted her daddy while he was entertaining guests the other evening to tell him that her older brother had been teasing her. "He was just born mean!" she stormed.

—a general's wife, recently a visitor here in Lincoln, was regaling her daughter's friends with anecdotes about her years in the army. While living in Honolulu she had a Japanese cook who was apt to embellish any recipe given her until her mistress had a little talk with her about following directions exactly. At a birthday party that evening the cake was brought in for all the guests to see. Across the top the cook had put the name of the recipe. There it was spelled out in colored frosting: "Cheap Sponge Cake."

—and I can't resist mentioning a wire photo that appeared last week—an old-fashioned Chic Sales job from the roof of which was sprouting a TV antenna!

—now for a fashion note or two—or more.

—for late afternoon wear very bulky hats over slim, slim dresses is the current fashion craze. Most of these dresses have some type of bloused back or floating panels.

—as for shoes, anything goes—flowered prints with leather trim, jeweled buckles and jeweled heels. I still like the plain old pump and these can be had in any fabric or leather or height of heel.

—can't resist mentioning one maternally dress I saw. It was a slim skirt topped by a loose, short-sleeved tunic with the bottom of the tunic edged with a four-inch band of flat feathers. The entire outfit was in the most beautiful shade of blue—one I presume to be worn only on those festive evenings when mother needs a lift.

Giant Chest Expansion Demonstrated

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

Ben Zersen of Pender appears to be just another husky Nebraskan.

But ask him to expand his chest and zoom, he places his hands against his stomach, starts to inhale, and slowly his chest heaves forward into a giant size, threatening every button on his shirt and stretching his tee shirt far apart.

Zersen, who holds the world's records for chest expansion (11 and five-eighths inches set in 1944 "or thereabouts") and for holding the expansion (three minutes, 50 seconds), likes to unbutton his shirt before he expands, and the reason is obvious.

"It's not easy to pop buttons," Zersen said, "for the shirt will expand remarkably far." However, expanding a shirt ten inches or more certainly does it no good.

Uses 'Lower Lobes' Zersen says the secret to this phenomenal performance lies in the use of the lower lobes of the chest. "No secret at all," he said. "Anyone who develops this area through the proper exercises could do the same thing to a certain extent."

Zersen, who is now 55, was born on a Gresham, Neb. farm. When he was 13, he had a lung condition from which doctors did not expect him to recover. So young Ben set up some homemade exercises to develop his chest and lungs, and by the time he was 17, he had not only overcome the lung condition, but he was also able to expand his chest five inches.

Ben joined a circus when he was 20 and was featured for his physical feats. Since then he has held physical culture classes, lectured on proper breathing, wrestled professionally, and even played trombone with Glenn Miller's original five-piece band.

Travels State He now is an inspector for the Nebraska Department of Labor

Chest Expansion 'Really Shows'

Ben Zersen of Pender is "just another husky Nebraskan" in the picture at left above, but at right he demonstrates his button-popping chest expansion of more than 11 inches. (Star Photos).

Safety Division and travels across the state in his work.

Ben was featured in Robert Ripley's "Believe It or Not" strip in 1934 when his expansion was a mere ten and three-fourths inches.

He appeared as a contestant on "I've Got a Secret" television show in New York City last month.

"I had a good time there," Ben said, "and sure was impressed with Gary Moore (the program's master of ceremonies). He's sure a nice guy." Panel member Faye Emerson guessed Zersen's secret, that he had the largest chest expansion in the world.

"After the show," Ben said, "she came up to me and asked me to do it again and let her feel that there were no props used."

"How could people be more healthy," Ben was asked.

"People don't get enough exercise today with all the motorized transportation and elevators. The best exercise in the world is plain walking, and lots of it," Ben remarked.

Ben has an 11-year-old son, Bill, who goes to school at Pender. He has learned the physical culture exercises from his father and can now expand his chest five inches.

"Billy has a better chance than I did" to become a champion expander, Ben said. He's "learning young and fast."

Ben stands six foot, one inch and weighs 218 pounds. He wears an 18 and one-half shirt. His chest normally measures 47 inches. Today he sometimes does professional exhibitions and gives talks on physical culture.

"I'm not a freak," Ben explained, "for what I have done can be done by others with the proper training, as is proved by my son among others."

And Ben appears perfectly normal. But when he places his hands against his stomach and starts to inhale, stand back and give the man room. He needs it.

BRINGING UP FATHER

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out the letters of your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

BAERING DOWN ON THE NEWS

The fellow who lost a week-end can play a double-header this holiday day.

It's the most patriotic picnic on our calendar. The Governor requested three people for every motor car. Put a flag, tie, drum and plenty of hot-dogs in the rumble.

One letter simply stands for another. In this cryptogram A is used for the three letters X, Y and Z. The letters B, C, D, E, F, G, H, I, J, K, L, M, N, O, P, Q, R, S, T, U, V, W, X, Y, Z are all hidden. Each day the code letters are different.

Yankees Salvage Half Of Bosox Doubleheader

BOSTON (AP) — New York pounded out 14 hits featuring Bill Skowron's two-run homer and single to defeat Boston 9-4 Wednesday and salvage a doubleheader split for the league leaders. Boston took the opener 7-6 on Jim Piersall's drive with two out in the 11th inning.

For the $4,594 who packed Fenway Park, the first game had the excitement and the wild finish.

It offered Ted Williams' three-run homer, New York's patented rally which produced four tallies in the ninth highlighted by Billy Martin's two-run homer, Jackie Jensen's looping single forging a tie in the last of the ninth and Piersall's smash.

But the nightcap victory enabled New York to remain 3½ games atop the American League standings.

Skowron's homer in the seventh inning of the second game pushed New York into a 6-1 lead but four straight Boston hits with two out in the eighth closed the gap to 6-4 and chased starter Don Larsen.

Southpaw Tommy Byrne finished up.

The Yankees came up with three more runs in the ninth on two walks, a single, Bob Cerv's fielder's choice and pinch-hitter Irv Noren's two-run safety.

Larsen, making his first start since June 9, was credited with his fifth triumph against one loss.

Lefty Mel Parnell was the loser.

Yankee slugger Mickey Mantle was missing from the lineup in the second game after receiving a sprained ligament in his right knee fielding Piersall's blow that ended the first game.

Phils Win 1st Game But Pirates Recover

PITTSBURGH — The Pittsburgh Pirates scored six runs in a wild first inning to defeat the Philadelphia Phillies 8-4 in the second game of a doubleheader Wednesday after two homers by Elmer Valo and one by Marv Blaylock gave the Phils a 4-2 victory in the opener.

Valo smashed solo roundtrippers, his third and fourth of the year, in the seventh and ninth innings. His seventh-inning blast put the Phillies ahead 3-2 after the Pirates knotted the score in the fifth on singles by Bill Virdon and Dick Groat and a triple by Lee Walls.

The Phillies, who collected a total of 15 hits, got off to an early start with two runs in the first inning on Blaylock's homer and back-to-back singles by Stan Lopata, Del Ennis and Valo, Harvey Haddix was the winner, striking out eight for his sixth victory of the year. The loser was Ronnie Kline.

The Pirates sewed up the second game quickly as they combined six hits with two Philadelphia errors, both by Marv Blaylock, for the six runs.

Pittsburgh added another pair in the fourth off Philadelphia starter Stu Miller on a walk, a single, a wild pitch and another single.

Del Ennis hit his 14th homer of the season in the fourth to give the Phils their first run. They added three more in the fifth on two errors, and three hits, including Jim Greengrass' pinch triple.

Elroy Face, who relieved starter Red Munger in the fifth, got credit for the win, his sixth.

Gold Sox Win 2

AMARILLO — The Amarillo Gold Sox enjoyed the July 4th holiday; they took a doubleheader from the Albuquerque Dukes, 11-1, and 4-2, here this Wednesday before 923. The first game of the twin-bill was televised by KGNC-TV, the first time a baseball game was telecast live from Gold Sox Field.

In the first game Mike Coen pitched a nine-inning seven-hitter to best the Dukes and in the second contest Jim Tugerson twirled a five-hitter in the seven-inning affair to give the Sox a double win.

Meter Readers
Saving Seats
Of Their Pants

... With 'Lollipops'

DES MOINES (INS) — The old game of "Dog Bites Dog" may continue elsewhere but the Iowa Power and Light Co., of Des Moines has put a new idea into effect to cut down on the number of dog bites received by its meter readers.

Under the new idea, metermen carry a pocketful of dog biscuits with them to pacify angry dogs—and perhaps to save the seats of a few pairs of trousers.

Power company officials put the plan into effect around the first of this year. They say that since that time dog bites to their meter readers have dropped at least 75 per cent while they've used 50 cases of dog biscuits.

Metermen are required to carry a box of dog biscuits, which look like candy and taste even better to the hungry hounds, with them as they make their rounds.

When a meter reader approaches a house with a dog, he breaks apart one of the small biscuits, called "Lollipops," and offers it to the dog. In most cases the dog becomes friendly with the man, or at least lets him read the meter.

Iowa Power and Light Co., sales manager J. A. Sayre reported that until the plan was put into operation the firm averaged one and a half dog bites per month. Since the plan was started only three meter readers have been bitten by dogs and they were what Sayre called the "sneaky" type.

The dogs would let the meterman in a house, eat his dog biscuits and sneak up from behind and bite the man.

Sayre calls the plan "highly successful" and this is further evidenced by the fact that at least 30 other utility concerns have picked up the idea to save their metermen from dog bites.

Auto Makers Aren't Worried About Shipments Of Steel Held Up By Strike

DETROIT (INS) — The steel industry's biggest customers—the car manufacturers—are not lying awake nights worrying about when they'll get their next trainloads of steel from the mills.

Slashed Body Found In K.C.; Son Is Sought

KANSAS CITY (INS) — The slashed and hammered body of a 60-year-old man was found Wednesday trussed with rope in the basement of a Kansas City home.

Police sought the victim's son for questioning. It was believed the two had lived in the house alone.

The man was tentatively identified as Harry Hanover, who sold his property in Lowell, Mo., six months ago to live with his son in Kansas City.

Neighbors, who told police they did not know the son's name, said he is believed to have been vacationing in California for the past two weeks.

The elder Hanover was last seen by neighbors Monday morning when he parked his automobile in front of the house. The car was still there.

The body was seen through a basement window by a neighbor who telephoned the police.

Detectives said there was evidence of a struggle. The victim was bound with rope to a chair. A kitchen knife and a hammer stained with blood were lying on the floor.

Monroney Faces McKeever For Oklahoma Seat

OKLAHOMA CITY (INS) — Sen. Mike Monroney (D-Okla.), carries his bid for a second term to the November general elections against Douglas McKeever, former state Republican chairman.

Tuesday's Oklahoma primary election also kept the incumbent congressmen in the running.

Rep. Victor Wickersham, however, was forced into a run-off July 24. He ran 2,000 votes behind former congressman Toby Morris.

Otherwise, Ed Edmondson, Carl Albert and John Jarman were re-nominated on the Democratic slate. Democrat Tom Steed and Republican Page Belcher were unopposed.

Monroney polled more than twice the combined votes of three challengers in the primary. Three Republican hopefuls were outdistanced by McKeever.

Services Thursday For Ida M. Miles

Funeral services for Ida Mary Miles, 83, of 709 So. 11th, who died Wednesday, will be held Thursday at 2 p.m. at Brown Mortuary.

Burial will be at Dowagiac, Mich. Born at Milford, Ind., she had lived at South Bend, Ind., Niles, Mich., Chicago, Minneapolis and Lincoln. She was a beauty operator for 35 years.

Survivors include nieces and cousins.

Queen Officiates

EDINBURGH (AP)—Queen Elizabeth II, escorted by her traditional Scots bodyguard of green-coated archers, opened new buildings for Scotland's National Library.

The Queen drove in state procession to the ceremony from Holyroodhouse Palace, where she is staying with the Duke of Edinburgh on their summer holidays.

A Whimper

ELIZABETH, N. J. (AP)—At the home of Patroliam Chester Paterek the Fourth of July started off not with a bang but a whimper.

Officer Paterek, unassisted, delivered his 7 pound 15 ounce son at his home at 623 Magle Ave., Elizabeth, after rushing there on an emergency call. Both mother and child are doing well.

When the nationwide strike of steelworkers began last weekend over their heads in steel due to the unanticipated sharp drop in new car sales since early spring.

Actually the steel shutdown—if it doesn't last too long—comes as a welcomed "breather" to some of the auto companies who are beginning to level off production of '56 models in preparation for the '57 model line.

Then there's the little matter of some 700,000 new cars still unsold at the dealer level. Even if the steel strike lasts long enough to curb auto production it will serve to reduce this inventory of cars before the new models come out early in the fall.

Since the outlook for new car sales was good around the first of the year steel orders were heavy for the first six months, with commitments being made some three months in advance.

As the demand for new cars suddenly slackened and production schedules were slashed, large stockpiles of steel began building up in the factory warehouses.

One car maker reportedly has so much steel on hand that it has offered cold-rolled sheets to its parts suppliers who might have been caught short by the strike. According to Ward's Automotive Reports the amount of steel being made available to the parts suppliers would assure uninterrupted production of the first 200,000 of this company's 1957 cars and trucks.

Only Ford
Of the "big three" car producers only Ford Motor Co. appears a little concerned about the possibility of a long strike.

A Ford spokesman said the company had enough steel on hand for more than 30 days production.

Ford makes about half of its own steel and its operations have not been affected by the strike. Its foundry employees are represented by the Auto Workers and not the Steelworkers Union.

On the other hand, Chrysler spokesmen said "we have enough steel on hand to carry us through the '56 model year and the start of the '57 model year."

General Motors Corp. said that its steel inventories are adequate at this time, adding: "we're making no predictions as to when we'll be short."

'Ball Of Fire' From Tractor Burns Man

...On Merrick County Farm

CENTRAL CITY, Neb. (AP)—An 87-year-old Merrick County farmer was burned Wednesday morning and has been hospitalized in Central City. He suffered extensive burns to his body and face.

He is A. J. Wagner. According to his daughter-in-law, Mrs. Heber Wagner, the elder Wagner was standing near a tractor which his son was attempting to start.

A ball of fire suddenly burst from the tractor, setting Wagner's clothing on fire. Heber threw his father to the ground, rolling him about and extinguished the flames burning his own hands.

Hungary Will Keep Ties With Soviet Union, Though Policies To Be Made 'Independently'

By RICHARD KASISCHKE
VIENNA (AP)—A broadcast from Hungary claimed Wednesday that Hungarian Communist have the duty to decide their policies independently "even while we remain true to our ties with the Soviet Union."

The broadcast added that in the past Hungarians had often copied Soviet methods and policies too slavishly, without regard to Hungary's peculiar conditions. It said this had harmed Hungarian economic development.

The commentary was made over a station that calls itself "Our Homeland" and aims its broadcasts at Hungarian emigrants in Western countries. The text was obtained from the official Hungarian news agency MTL.

Said 'Commentary'
It was interpreted in some Western countries as a Hungarian
"declaration of independence" from Moscow control. But veteran observers of satellite affairs here discounted this. They said it was more a commentary on the current controversy between the Soviet Communist party and Western Red leaders like Palmiro Togliatti party secretary in Italy.

Three prominent members of
Moscow by plane Wednesday. The three, Deputy Giancarlo Pajetta and Sen. Carlo Negarville and Gi-como Pellegrini, said they would see Soviet party leaders. Some political circles in Rome specu-lated that the visit might be connected with the controversy.

The trouble arose after First Secretary Nikita S. Khrushchev of the Soviet Communist party at its 20th Congress last February denounced the late Premier Stalin as a murderer who had fostered adulation of himself in a "cult of personality."

Leaders Blamed
In an interview published June 16 in the literary magazine New Arguments, Togliatti said present Soviet leaders were partly to blame for creating the Stalin myth and asked if Soviet society had not experienced "degeneration" in the Stalin era.

In a resolution made public Sunday, the Soviet party's Central Committee said there were "no foundations for such a question."
It charged Togliatti with a wrong interpretation of the reasons behind the Stalin cult.

In an interview published in pro-Communist Rome newspapers, Togliatti gave "approval without reserve" to Moscow's anti-Stalin campaign. But he did not back down from the remarks for which it had criticized him.

He repeated that "diversity of judgment" among Communist parties could be useful.

The Hungarian broadcast took a somewhat similar line. It glibed at "Western reactionary circles who have been joyfully crying, 'Ha, the Communists are fighting among themselves.'"

The broadcast claimed this was not true, asserting that the differences merely represented honest debate. It added: "The Communist parties aid each other not only when they speak of their results, but also when they criticize each other."

The commentary asserted that the 20th Soviet party Congress in February had stated there were various roads to socialism. It added that the Communist parties of the world were still working together. It said:

"Naturally, the rules of these new relations between the Communist parties apply not only for the Italians and French, but also for the Hungarian Communists. It is the great duty and task of our party to be concerned extensively with the special peculiarities of Hungary in shaping our political and economic policies—even while we remain true to our ties with the Soviet Union and the other people's democracies. In other words, to decide our policies independently."

It said that henceforth special emphasis would be laid on the development of Hungary's home industries.

Municipal Band 45 Years Old, But Some Members Recall 1st Concert

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

The Lincoln Municipal Band on July 1 began its 45th summer of free Sunday evening concerts at Antelope Park. Some of its members remember the first one.

Ted Kurth, who played with the band at the State Fairgrounds as early as 1907, recalls that the group first played at Antelope on June 18, 1911.

In fact, the band played everywhere in the early days. Kurth remembers playing on top of the balcony in front of the Lincoln Hotel, at the Lindell Hotel, in front of the city library, at F Street Park and even at Seward.

John Shildneck is director of the band, which has scheduled seven concerts this year at Antelope. The city of Lincoln will pay for three, and the Music Performance Trust Fund of the American Federation of Musicians will pay for four. All municipal band members, 35 this year, are members of Local 463 of the union.

Two Soloists

For this year's series Shildneck, who began with the band as a solo trumpet player and has directed "for about 12 or 15 years," plans to have at least two soloists (vocal and instrumental) each concert, as he has had in the past.

Several outstanding high school students throughout the state have already been playing, he said. The band is playing in a new stand this year, built by the city to replace the old structure, which was part of an older circular stand.

The old stand, first used in 1925, was built of frame and is antiquated by its age, size and unattractiveness.

Prior to 1925, the band used a circular bandstand, open on all four sides, which was located where the seats for the newly-replaced stand were set. A winding staircase led the band members through a trap door onto the old platform.

E. M. "Ed" Jackson, who has played with the band since 1910, recalls the old circular stand.

"Every time there would be one or two members who were late," he said, "and they would have to crawl over the top."

Jackson, a drummer, remembers that the group had two definite engagements each week during the early days, playing at Antelope Sunday nights and at F Street Park one weekday evening.

Earl Johnson, who has played clarinet "off and on" for thirty years, observed that "television and other entertainment has taken away some of the interest from the Sunday concerts." However, he said, the crowds are still good.

Johnson praised Shildneck's "wonderful idea" of providing an opportunity for Nebraska high school students to perform at the Sunday concerts, giving them a chance to become accustomed to performing before a large audience while they are still young.

Dr. E. C. Marx played with the band for "thirty years or more" before retiring five years ago. He recalls times when there were as many as "five or six thousand people" attending the concerts. Dr. Marx observed that "the military-type band is on the way out" as other forms of entertainment begin to fill the gap.

Mark Pierce, who plays bass, began with the band about 1910. He remembers the many directors he has played for, including August Hagenow, Steven Jelinek, Dr. Arthur Wood, William T. Quick, Bernard F. Nevin, Arthur J. Babin, Shildneck and Harry Ziegenbein.

Ziegenbein directed the band for three years during the war and recalls that during those years the band played thirty consecutive concerts without a rainout.

Ziegenbein, who has played trumpet with the band "off and on for twenty years" recalls that the crowds were larger during the war years. "Because of the gasoline stamps, people were limited on car travel," he said, "so many just drove out to the park for a Sunday evening of free entertainment."

New Music

Shildneck recalls that the band has always kept up with the new music over the years, although it does play a couple of "old standard marches" each concert.

"We have always had good crowds," he said, "although we probably had the largest ones during the war years."

Last year's concerts attracted an average of approximately 800-1,000, he said.

For the next six Sundays this year, the band will again provide free entertainment at the park, beginning at 7:30 p.m.

The new stand is located just west of the Antelope dance pavilion. Parking space will be available in the area and cars will be allowed to park on the grass near the stand, according to James Ager, city park commissioner.

And, if you like, you may sit on the grass, enjoying the music in picnic style.

'We're Equal,' Nixon Says In Philippines

MANILA (AP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon, wearing a native "barong tagalog" shirt, was cheered by a half-million Filipinos Wednesday as he represented President Eisenhower at their celebration of 10 years of independence from the United States.

In a speech frequently interrupted by sustained applause, Nixon told his listeners: "We are friends, we are allies and make no mistake about it, we are equal."

His remarks were credited by many with going a long way toward strengthening friendly ties between the United States and the Philippines, where some sensitive Filipinos have complained the United States has neglected them in favor of Asian neutrals.

2-Hour Parade

The vice president's speech, at Manila's Luneta Park, followed a two-hour parade, which featured 53 floats. Overhead was an air show put on by Philippine air force P-51 Mustangs and U. S. Air Force Sabre Jets.

Nixon warned the nations of Asia against trying to outmaneuver Communist imperialism by a policy of "friendly neutrality." He said Asia's neutrals — obviously meaning India, Indonesia, Burma and Ceylon — had "far more to gain by standing together with the free nations than by remaining aloof."

Speaking after the vice president, Philippine President Ramon Magsaysay said the "partnership" between his country and the United States "for the cause of peace and freedom . . . should become a model of collective action for liberty rather than a source of doubt among the uncommitted countries or of substance for the propaganda of the enemies of liberty."

Two Die In Post-Voting Gun Battle

Oklahoma Sheriff And Political Foe Clash

STILLWELL, Okla. (AP)—A blazing post-election gun duel Wednesday ended the lives of Adair County Sheriff Chester Crittenden and his victorious political opponent.

State Crime Bureau agents and county authorities patiently questioned numerous persons in this small eastern-Oklahoma hill town, trying to learn what was behind the bullet battle between the handsome 51-year-old sheriff and Bob Alberty, 32.

They admitted privately there was a strange silence over the reason for the fracas.

Unofficial returns showed Alberty won the Democratic nomination for Adair County sheriff over Crittenden and two other candidates in Tuesday's primary election.

Jailer Ike Martin Jr., 25, reportedly the only eyewitness to the death duel, was only inches away from Crittenden when slugs from Alberty's gun ripped into the officers' body outside the jailer's courthouse apartment.

Martin said Crittenden had arrested Alberty on a complaint he had been carrying a gun. He said the shooting occurred before Alberty was searched. The jailer added that he never saw a gun until after the shooting.

Duel Described

He said Crittenden was shot as he strolled down the hallway of Martin's apartment on the courthouse's third floor. Martin recalled the shooting in these words:

"Bob was in my kitchen with the lights out when Chester walked up the jail hall. "As Chester passed the door going toward our other room, Bob fired twice and I think one bullet missed. The other got him in the chest. The sheriff staggered down the hall, dropped his gun, then picked it up and returned to the kitchen door."

Martin said there was another exchange of fire and one of the sheriff's bullets tore into Alberty's skull. Another of Alberty's bullets then found Crittenden's body, Martin said.

Iowa Man Injured In Traffic Mishap After Lynch Visit

CLARION, Ia. (AP)—Bernard Norwood, 34, of Independence, was critically injured Wednesday when the car driven by his wife crashed into an automatic signal pole at railroad tracks west of here.

Doctors said he suffered a crushed skull.

Norwood and his wife, Marcella, were returning from a visit at Lynch, Neb., when the accident occurred. Sheriff Robert Blecker said they had been driving all night.

Demo Convention Question: Who'll Gain After First Ballot?

By D. HAROLD OLIVER
WASHINGTON (AP)—What is likely to happen after an indicative first ballot at the Democratic National Convention which is expected to show Adlai Stevenson with a comfortable lead for the presidential nomination?

Will Stevenson gain on succeeding ballots, as is now indicated, if he falls short of the necessary 636½ votes on the first?

Or will Gov. Averell Harriman of Tennessee or some favorite son begin to make inroads?

Few delegations in the pledged class are bound to their candidates beyond the first roll call. But if Stevenson polls around 500 votes at the start, as his forces claim he will, it could influence loosely held delegates on subsequent roll calls. It might be hard to deny a nomination to anyone getting that close to a majority.

Kefauver claims he will have around 250 on the opening ballot. Harriman backers expect him to have close to 200. None of the three leading candidates has anywhere near the totals claimed for them in votes now pledged or otherwise committed.

Adlai Could Gain More

Although anything can happen in a "wide open" convention, as Harriman dubs the one opening in Chicago Aug. 13, present signs point to Stevenson standing to gain more in second choice support than either of his leading competitors.

Recent convention actions and polls indicate Stevenson would get many Kefauver votes in Minnesota, Montana, and possibly Indiana if the Tennessee pulls out. Harriman also could pick up some Kefauver strength in Indiana. Kefauver says he will not accept anything but the presidential nomination and he seeks no deals with any other candidates.

Where the favorite son votes would go on succeeding ballots is anybody's guess. But Stevenson forces are eyeing hopefully the 56 Texas votes pledged to Sen. Lyndon Johnson, a 1952 Stevenson supporter, after they plump for Johnson at the start.

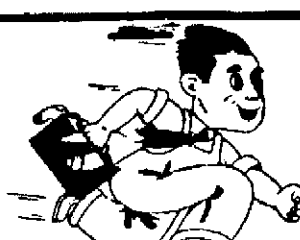

Missouri Eyed

There also have been signs Stevenson might get Sen. Stuart Symington's big Missouri delegation if the senator's darkhorse boom fades.

Gov. Frank Lausche, Ohio's favorite, and Gov. G. Mennen Williams, Michigan's hopeful, have not intimated where they might throw their votes in later balloting.

Stevenson supporters count heavily on additional delegate strength now uncommitted in Georgia, Illinois, Louisiana, Massachusetts, New Jersey, and Pennsylvania. The Harriman forces expect to pick up Oklahoma's uncommitted bloc under the unit rule, and more Western votes before the convention opening.

Salesman And Nephew Die In Bungled Holdup

LAWRENCE, Mass. (AP)—Two bungling gunmen found shot to death after a police tear gas siege were identified Wednesday as a Malden salesman and his nephew.

Authorities said the younger man took his own life by shooting himself through the mouth as police closed in on their attic hide-out. The other one, shot in the temple, may also have committed suicide, they said.

Mrs. Rita Dockham, 34, of Malden, a bride of two months, identified the older man as her husband, Warren, 34, whom she described as a salesman of aluminum windows.

The other one, Mrs. Dockham said, was Richard P. Witham, 20, of Boston, Dockham's nephew. Police said Witham once was arrested on suspicion of armed robbery but apparently was not prosecuted.

Resistance

The two men tried to rob Kay's jewelry store on Amesbury Street but evidently had not prepared for resistance.

James R. Kay Jr., 36, son of the proprietor, gave them a fight. Though beaten on the head with a gun butt, Kay chased the pair out of the store and up the street, firing after them with a gun kept in the store.

Although they had left a getaway car parked at the corner, the men ran into a nearby house and barricaded themselves in a third-floor attic. When police charged the stairs after tear gas and smoke cleared away, they found both men dead.

Funeral Saturday For Auto Victim

Funeral services for Mrs. Anna K. Martens of 1320 So. 15th will be Saturday at 2 p.m. at the Evangelical Lutheran Church at Emerson, Neb.

Mrs. Martens, 38, was killed when the car she was driving apparently missed a curve and rolled from Highway 2-34 northwest of Lincoln.

Mrs. Martens was born at Detroit and had lived in Lincoln about six weeks. She was employed at a local drug store and was a member of the First Lutheran Church at York, Neb.

Survivors include her husband, Henry A. Martens of Thayer, Neb.; parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Nuber of Avon Park, Fla., and a brother, John Nuber of Detroit.

Coloradoan Dies

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (INS)—Mrs. Edith Florence Harvey, 48, of Fruita, Colo., died in the Sacramento County Hospital a few hours after her automobile was struck broadside by another car at a highway intersection.

Mrs. Harvey was driving along Highway 50 when her car was hit by an auto driven by Mary Cran-jack of Sacramento who was entering the highway from a side road. The accident occurred a quarter mile east of Sacramento.

Lincolnite's Son Receives Aviation Safety Award

Mrs. Leslie E. Kassebaum, son of Mrs. Martha Kassebaum of 4225 F. has been awarded the Military Air Transport Service Award for Safety in Military Aviation.

He received the award for completing 6,174 hours as a pilot with no accidents attributable to judgment errors from April, 1946, to May 11, 1956. Maj. Kassebaum is a senior chief pilot at Brooks Air Force Base in Texas.

Joining the Army Air Corps in July, 1942, he served in England and participated in the Berlin Airlift. The major's wife is the former Emma A. Applegarth of Beatrice. The family lives in San Antonio, Texas.

Mother Arrested After Newlyborn Tot Found In Alley

CHRISTOPHER, Ill. (INS)—A 30-year-old mother accused of abandoning her newborn child in an alley was arrested Wednesday by Christopher police.

Harlan Eldridge, police chief of the 4,000-population town in south central Illinois' Franklin County, said the mother, Betty Wicker Sullivan, a divorcee, was taken to Miners Hospital for observation.

At the same hospital is the infant, an eight-pound boy, reported "doing well."

The child was found lying in a cardboard box only a few hours after it was born.

Chief Eldridge said Mrs. Sullivan, mother of two other children, told him she gave birth to the son in her apartment while the other children were asleep.

State's Attorney Joe Hickman is conferring with sheriff Paul Collins on what legal proceedings will be taken.
